

Texas Kidneywood

The Texas kidney wood is a small, understory perennial in the Pea family, with multiple trunks, compound leaves with 13-47 leaflets and citrus smelling white flowers. The wood was used to treat kidney and bladder infections and the heartwood was used for dye. It is the host plant for the Southern dogface butterfly.

